

After listening to the Bill Moyers interviews of experts in the field of Media Ownership and some thoughtful reflection of my own on the standardization of information already evident in the broadcast media, both TV and Radio, I want to express my opposition to changing the Media Ownership Policy. Allowing fewer corporate entities to own and thus control the majority of media outlets, restricts our access to divergent viewpoints and jeopardizes our democratic form of government. Make no mistake, to use a favorite phrase of our current administration, those who hold the pursestrings are more concerned about the financial bottom line of their corporations than the truth and accuracy of information and the diversity of opinions allowed in the media. Please reconsider carefully this critical change and disallow monopolization of our media!
